What's New in Advocacy?

- SB3340, Protective Medical Equipment Freedom Act is an Illinois bill that establishes the right for all individuals in Illinois to wear protective medical equipment, such as masks, respirators, face shields, and gloves, in any public place where they are lawfully present, without being required to disclose their health status. Contact Democrats in the IL Senate and ask them to co-sponsor this bill. Scripts for calling and emailing can be found here: <https://tinyurl.com/ILDemScripts>
- S.I.B.S. has signed onto a joint letter urging Congress to consider the immense harm that detention and violent immigration and law enforcement activities have on immigrants and families, including those with disabilities, those who are Deaf and hard of hearing and caregivers. We have urged Congress to halt all funding to DHS and reallocate the funding towards Medicaid, SNAP, and other essential services for people with disabilities, like our siblings. You can view the letter here: <https://tinyurl.com/JointLetterSIBS>
- S.I.B.S. has also signed onto a joint letter with the National Down Syndrome Congress urging the Social Security Administration (SSA) not to remove the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) as a qualifying form of public assistance when determining whether a household qualifies as a “public assistance (PA) household” for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) purposes—particularly when one household member receives SSI and another receives SNAP. What's New in Advocacy?

- Justice in Aging is hosting an upcoming webinar for advocates on the topic of Medicaid work requirements and who they apply to. Presenters will discuss how exemptions and other protections should be implemented to prevent coverage loss and administrative burden, particularly among older adults and caregivers. Advocates will gain strategies and tools to use in the implementation and policy-setting stage to help ensure states comply with the law and adopt as many optional protections as possible.

The webinar will take place on Thursday, February 5, 2026 at 1:00 p.m. CT and will run for 60 minutes.

- Congressional appropriations committees have rejected the President's proposed block-granting and elimination of IDEA programs. An appropriations bill has passed out of the House and is moving to the Senate. This bill prohibits the U.S. Department of Education from transferring any education funding to another federal agency unless an appropriations law allows it to do so.
- S.I.B.S. has signed onto a coalition letter urging the Social Security Administration (SSA) not to remove the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) as a qualifying form of public assistance when determining whether a household qualifies as a "public assistance (PA) household" for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) purposes—particularly when one household member receives SSI and another receives SNAP.

Preparing for Emergencies

S.I.B.S. understands that today's world can be unpredictable. You may wonder what to do if there is an emergency situation with law enforcement where you are separated from your sibling. Here are some steps you may take.

- Know your rights: Law enforcement cannot enter your home without a signed judicial warrant. You do not have to answer any questions or sign any documents. You may want an attorney, but they do not have to provide you with one and you will have to pay for it yourself.
- What you can do: You and your sibling should carry valid documents. Examples: Immigration status, proof you have been living in the U.S. for the past 2 years, government issued ID, work, school or medical records, a signed lease, housing contract or mortgage, or mail received at your home address. These documents can help you avoid expedited removal and preserve your right to a court hearing. You will want to memorize important phone numbers. You will likely not have access to your cell phone if you are detained. Consider using this sample card of important numbers and details that your sibling can carry with them, such as on a wearable lanyard.
- To find someone detained by ICE: Go to locator.ice.gov and use name, birthdate, and country of birth. If possible, use the A-number and country of birth.
- Immigration Legal Services: National Immigrant Justice Center - (312) 660-1370 immigrantjustice.org, American Immigration Lawyers Association - www.aialawyer.com
